Partnership Approach – Andrews International (AI) partners with clients to align security with overall enterprise objectives. By approaching security as a business enabler, we differentiate ourselves in an industry that has historically focused on price rather than value.

Full-Service Expertise – We are committed to providing quality security services to customers in a variety of industries, meeting diverse customer needs with specialized uniformed security, consulting and investigations, executive protection, anti-piracy services, and more.

Consulting, Investigations and International (CI&I) Division – AI's CI&I Division is staffed by industry-leading security and risk-management professionals, with expertise and global reach to provide comprehensive assessments, intelligence, recommendations, and solutions.

Professional Personnel – Our stringent selection procedures, comprehensive benefits and incentives, and professional training and career development lead to retention of high-caliber security officers and supervisory staff.

Discriminating Clientele – Prestigious clients, including Fortune 500 firms and well-known brands, trust us with protecting their companies and employees.

Local Support, Global Reach – A national security company with operations throughout the Americas and alliance partners worldwide, we support hundreds of clients locally, nationally, and internationally.

Responsive Management – Our seasoned management team puts the interests of the client first and foremost; and operations managers have direct executive support through our flat management structure.

Advanced Training – Our specialized training is developed through our state-of-the-art, million dollar training center in Burbank, California. The learning curriculum developed is delivered via instructor-based classroom training and our web-based learning management system. Our in-house training video production capabilities offer customers training specific to their environments – for our employees at the site or for customer employees.

Pioneering Technology – We promote innovative uses of technology to ensure resource optimization, efficiency, and service delivery. Our investment in industry-leading workforce management systems and processes enables the integration of personnel scheduling, accounting, and performance analysis the most efficient operations.

Background Screening – Our partnership with S2Verify, a premier screening company, gives us an edge in screening our employees to exacting standards. We can put the same background screening technology to work for our customers as part of our business intelligence services.
