Solutions for a Safer World™

Andrews International provides security services and consulting and investigations solutions around the world, with a holistic approach that ensures consistency of service across your portfolio.

Headquartered in the United States, Andrews International (AI) is a full-service global provider of security and risk mitigation services. Andrews International has expanded its service capabilities and geographic reach over the past two decades to support customers nationally and internationally, with direct operations in the U.S., Canada, South America, Central America and Latin America. The company also supports customers directly and through regional vetted alliance partners in Europe, Middle East and Northern Africa (MENA), Sub-Saharan Africa, and Asia-Pacific.

Our focus is forming strategic partnerships with our clients that help mitigate their security and asset protection vulnerabilities locally and globally, so they can concentrate on growing their businesses in emerging markets. We assist business leaders, security directors, legal, and human resource professionals in planning for, managing, and responding to global risks – from crisis planning and physical security reviews to corporate investigations, business intelligence/due diligence, and litigation support. With growing service capabilities, we provide solutions that balance business and security objectives to deliver the strongest, most cost-effective security programs to clients.

As an industry leader, we are committed to offering our clients a diverse skill and services network and the ability to access resources on a global basis. With AI's national and global account operations, you can count on the following:

- experienced account management and a single point of contact as the primary liaison between AI and the customer
