

HEALTH CARE

Solutions for a Safer World™

As the industry continues to expand and becomes more technologically oriented, health care owners and operators require an extremely professional level of security planning, prevention, and protection.

The health care sector is not only one of the nation's largest industries, it represents a particular set of security challenges and issues. Facilities and other assets, people, property, equipment, medicines, and medical supplies, have all become a primary target for theft, vandalism, property damage, and litigation. Additionally, as the industry continues to expand and becomes more technologically oriented, health care owners and operators require an extremely professional level of security planning, prevention, and protection.

Facilities protection requires the highest level of security services related to access control, ingress and egress monitoring, patrols, and alarm monitoring, emergency response needs, and assistance with inspections by local and federal agencies.

Andrews International brings to its clients an integrated approach to security that provides a range of services and a proven level of reliability to meet both the conventional and extended security needs of the health care industry. Andrews International's approach to security is comprehensive, focusing on threat assessments, situation analysis, and proactive planning to identify problems and issues before they arise.

Key health care sector services provided by the firm include:

- Threat assessments, consulting and investigations
- Day-to-day operations of security operations
- Facilities protection
- Security of supplies, equipment, and controlled substances
- Crisis management
- Emergency/unusual event response
- Internal training for all hospital personnel
- Bioterrorism interdiction and control

The Andrews International approach to security evolves to meet the needs of its health care industry clients. Company management works closely with clients to create customized security programs that focus on advance planning and preparation for all contingencies. The company's web-based workforce management system allows management to integrate personnel scheduling, accounting, and account performance analysis. Andrews International's collaborative processes ensure consistent management and service quality.
