

FOCUS ON INDUSTRIAL & MANUFACTURING

With the evolution of America's industrial and manufacturing sector into a highly sophisticated and automated segment of the economy, its demands for security have become ever more substantial.

Encompassing, as it does, research, manufacturing and production, distribution, and marketing, the industrial and manufacturing sectors faces a broad range of potential security vulnerabilities. Manufacturing firms have become a major target of theft, vandalism, management-labor-related disputes, property damage, equipment and product tampering, and litigation. And as products and processes continue to be developed, manufactured, and distributed, an extremely professional level of security planning, prevention and protection is required.

Andrews International brings to its industrial and manufacturing clients an integrated approach to security that provides a range of services and a proven level of reliability to meet both the conventional and extended security needs of the field.

Professionals from Andrews International provide its clients with comprehensive guidelines for security, focusing on threat assessments, situation analysis, and meticulous planning to identify problems and issues before they arise.

Facilities and asset protection requires the highest level of security related to access control, ingress and egress monitoring, after-hours protection, patrols, and alarm monitoring.

Among the key services provided by the firm are:

- Protection against product tampering, counterfeiting, and diversion
- Security operations management
- Intellectual property protection
- Supply chain security
- Crisis management
- Emergency event response
- Access control and electronic security design
- Alarm monitoring and integrated security system management
- Environmental, health, and safety program design

Andrews International is a management-and systems-driven company whose professionals have created and constantly refine an approach that evolves to meet the needs of its industrial and manufacturing industry clients. Company management works closely with clients to create customized security programs that focus on advance planning and preparation for all contingencies.

The company's web-based workforce management system allows management to integrate personnel scheduling, accounting, and account performance analysis. Its human resources tool tracks each employee's performance and other information.

Andrews International also excels in account transition, rapidly becoming familiar with the client's needs, processes, policies and systems, in a seamless and transparent manner. The company's performance score card identifies key drivers that serve as a baseline for performance measurement.

The selection and training of Andrews International personnel are critical to the company's successful track record with a broad range of industrial and manufacturing clients. The company's rigorous selection process includes thorough testing, background checks, past performance analysis, personality/integrity profiles, and other standards.

A comprehensive training program assures that Andrews International security personnel meet the highest standards of the industry, while personnel retention is much higher than the industry norm due to superior compensation packages and benefits.

Among industry organizations in which the company is active are:

- American Society of Industrial Security (ASIS)
- International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP)
- Overseas Security Advisory Council (OSAC)
- International Association of Bomb Technicians and Investigators (IABTI)