

MEDIA AND ENTERTAINMENT

Solutions for a Safer World™

The media and entertainment industry is exposed to unique risks that require a professional, experienced, and integrated security approach.

The high level of visibility inherent in media and entertainment industries creates environments with unique security needs. Not only do physical assets and facilities need protection, but also creative equity, information and individuals. Exposed assets, high-profile individuals and constant public interaction create a range of security vulnerabilities that must be prepared for. An extremely professional level of security planning, prevention, and protection is required to effectively manage risk specific to the media and entertainment environment.

With clients among more than a dozen prominent film and television studios, numerous awards program producers, and key notables within the industry, Andrews International boasts unparalleled experience providing security for the entertainment and media industry. The firm has provided security services for such awards programs as: the AFI Awards, the Daytime Emmys, American Idol, the BET Awards, Latin Emmys, ESPY Awards, and others.

Similarly, Andrews International provides a broad range of security services to numerous media properties, including major publishing corporations, multiple-market television station owners, as well as smaller firms in the areas of broadcasting, printing, publishing, and communications.

Andrews International also provides security services at world-reknowned high-rise properties, servicing hundreds of tourists and tours daily; as well as theme parks, museums and sporting venues.

Key media and entertainment security services provided by the firm are:

- Facilities security
- Crowd and traffic control
- Credentials and identification program management
- Consulting and investigations (including stalking investigations)
- Threat assessments
- Employee screening
- Protection of executives and high-profile individuals
- Event venue protection planning and security
- Specialized training for clients' own security personnel
- Technology protection and anti-piracy programs
- Anti-piracy screening security

Andrews International brings to its media and entertainment industry clients an integrated, full-service approach to security that provides a range of services and a proven level of reliability to meet both the conventional and extended security needs of the field.
